Dear authors,

we have now received the two solicited reviews and a number of further short comments. In general, your effort in writing this paper is appreciated and the paper seems to be a welcome contribution to critical zone science. However, both reviewers highlight that the structure of the paper is not optimal and could be improved. There are also a number of minor comments to improve clarity and amend the content.

Please provide a detailed reply to all comments.

With best wishes,

Jens Turowski
