Interactive comment on "Relationships between regional coastal land cover distributions and elevation reveal data uncertainty in a sea-level rise impacts model" by Erika E. Lentz et al.

Erika E. Lentz et al.

elentz@usgs.gov

We appreciate the constructive and thorough review. We agree that the original manuscript was a bit lacking in critical detail as to how the model worked, and that this made the paper a bit challenging for one who was not familiar with our previously published work to read. We have posted a supplement that includes responses to specific comments and proposed changes to the manuscript to elaborate on the modeling to address reviewer concerns.